10 ½-quart Centurion® stainless steel stockpot in natural finish

Impressively durable and versatile, the Centurion stainless steel stockpot by Vollrath is a valuable addition to your high-volume kitchen. The heavy-duty stainless steel construction resists discoloration and corrosion, promising years of use, and prevents flavor retention for higher-quality results. This induction-ready stockpot features a natural finish and an aluminum-clad bottom that work together to ensure even heating and uniform cooking, while the welded hollow handles provide convenient transportation and a cool, comfortable grip.
